

T. Berry Brazelton will lecture in Elstad Auditorium May 3.

Brazelton is final lecturer

T. Berry Brazelton, M.D., noted pediatrician and author, will be the third and final speaker this semester for the Amos Kendall Lecture Series.

Brazelton will speak on May 3 at 7:30 p.m. in the Elstad Auditorium to faculty, students and other interested individuals.

Plans are also being made for Brazelton to meet with students during the afternoon prior to his lecture, and to visit Kendall School.

Dr. Brazelton is chief of the Division of Child Development at The Children's Hospital Medical Center, Harvard Medical School, in Boston. In this role, he conducts research in early infancy and parent-infant interaction. He is also an associate professor of Pediatrics at Harvard Medical School.

A regular columnist for "Redbook" Magazine, Brazelton has also written several books, including Infants and Mothers, Toddlers and Parents, and Doctor and Child (the last is a collection of his articles written for "Redbook"). His newest book, On Becoming a Family, is being published by Delacorte Press/Seymour Lawrence and discusses what parents and infants mean to each other and how they learn to live together.

Brazelton holds his A.B. from Princeton University and his M.D. from Columbia University.

Free tickets for the lecture are available on a first-come, first-served basis. Tickets can be picked up at the Elstad Auditorium Box Office on the following dates:

Thurs., April 28, 3-6 p.m.
Fri., April 29, 3-6 p.m.

Mon., May 2, 3-6 p.m.

Tues., May 3, 4-7:30 p.m.

Previous speakers this semester for the Amos Kendall Lecture Series, named in commemoration of Kendall School's 125 years of service, were Bryant Gumbel and Gloria Steinem.

Luncheon planned to honor secretaries

Gallaudet's secretaries will be honored on National Secretaries Day this Wednesday, April 27, with a luncheon and program at the Sheraton Washington Hotel.

All secretaries who are on the Gallaudet payroll are invited to attend the luncheon, which begins at 12 noon in the Maryland Suite of the Sheraton Washington.

Immediately following the program, Dr. Marlene Thorn will present a seminar on "Positive Communication for Secretaries." Thorn, a former Kendall School employee, is now self-employed as a communications and human resources consultant. The seminar will kick off a series of professional development activities being planned for secretaries by the Personnel Office.

Transportation to and from the Sheraton will be provided on Wednesday. Buses will pick up passengers at 11:15 a.m. at MSSD, 11:20 a.m. at KDES, 11:20 a.m. at College Hall and 11:25 a.m. at Ely Center.

For further information about the event, contact P.J. Sanders, x5113.

GCAA elects D.C. Chapter Officers

The D.C. Chapter of the GCAA held its final meeting of the year on Wednesday, April 13 and elected officers. Mike Kaika and Lynn Jacobowitz were re-elected president and vice president respectively. Marianne Sasseen was elected secretary and Michael Olson got the nod for treasurer. Marianne Sasseen is a faculty member at KDES and Michael Olson is employed at the archives in the Learning Center.

The members voted to change the time of the meetings from 8 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. As a result of this time change, members who are TV addicts will be assured of getting home in time to watch captioned programs. The Chapter's treasury grew pretty well this year and the members voted to contribute $300 to the Alumni House Endowment Fund; $100 to National Academy to help fund a workshop—Deaf Children in Foster Care—to be held on campus June 23-25 (the Chapter also obligated another $100 to the National Academy for another workshop—Dealing with the Deaf Trauma Victim); $150 to the Ole Jim to purchase a small refrigerator; and $150 to the D.C. Police Bulletproof Vest Fund. For the 1982-83 year, the D.C. Chapter has contributed a total of $1,300 (last Fall $500 was donated to the Alumni House Endowment Fund).

The evening concluded with a presentation by Lisa Jacobs on her experience in India. She, along with Robert Lewis, spent six months in India working with the deaf people there and conducting Deaf Leadership Workshops. Jacobs supplemented her presentation with slides and films of her sojourn.

New dance program to be held

by Nancy Connors

On April 29 the curtain will rise on a new program of dance created this year by Diane Hottendorf and the Gallaudet Dancers and dance classes. The hour and a half program of dance to be held in Elstad Auditorium will open with magicians and a movement invitation to join the world of imagination. E.T., the extra-terrestrial of movie fame, will take part in one of the new dances. Other new choreography includes dances to the music of Chorus Line, Deaf (West) Side Story, and Godspell.

This is the 28th year of the Gallaudet Dancers, a troupe begun by Dr. Peter R. Wisher. In the beginning Wisher was concentrating on blending artistic sign language and its interpretation of poetry and song with dance movement. Since her arrival on campus a year and a half ago, Hottendorf has been working with the students to expose them to different kinds of dance, new instructors and new rhythms in music.

Recently the dancers received a class in "clogging" taught by a visiting teacher traveling with CHIVE—Council of Hearing-Impaired Visits and Exchanges based in London, England. Sharon Latty, a teacher interested in computer science, is an amateur clogging instructor in England. After her class with the dancers she commented that "they picked up clogging so quickly." She noticed that the dancers with experience in tap dancing had "educated feet" and that the clogging, which is similar to tap, came to them easily. The students commented that they noticed the difference in the tempo and spirit of the clogging compared to their regular dance instruction.

Library Bits & Pieces

Galloping through the computer files

by Carolyn Jones

Listed below are some files in the Gallaudet College Library that could be of help to people on campus.

- ERIC—more than 400,000 citations of research, projects and technical reports, speeches, books and journal articles. Emphasis on education but includes other social topics, too. Any ED# microfiche from ERIC is available in the Library and is filed by the ED# in the yellow cabinets on the main floor near the east windows. This file is the absolutely most helpful in deaf research.
- ECER—Exceptional Child Education Resources, a smaller file than ERIC but, because of its specialty, extremely helpful in deaf research.
- Medline—Medlars-on-line, the National Library of Medicine collection. Best in the world for medical literature. Includes, as of April, dsh Abstracts.
- National Library Service for the Blind—can be served for its holdings even though we cannot get any materials from them for visually handicapped students. The Martin Luther King Library downtown is the designated library in the Washington area to do that.
- National Information Sources on the Handicapped—lists organizations, agencies etc. that offer information about and/or services to handicapped people. Not that helpful to us but it's nice to know about it.

- National Information Center for Special Education Materials—lists instructional materials for exceptional students, including assessment instruments and education materials and media. Fairly helpful to us.

Consortium registration

Gallaudet graduate and undergraduate students are eligible to enroll in courses through the Consortium of Universities of the Washington Metropolitan area.

Member schools are the American University, the Catholic University of America, Howard University, Trinity College, Georgetown University, the George Washington University, Mt. Vernon College, the University of the District of Columbia and Gallaudet College.

Deadlines have been set for students to register for Consortium classes. Undergraduate students can register in the Registrar's Office, HMB 107, on April 28 and 29. Graduate students can register in the Registrar's Office on May 9.

For further information, call x5429 or x5430.

Sponsored R&D

Grant/contract deadlines

Provided below are application deadlines of selected federal programs that offer potential grant or contract opportunities for Kendall Green faculty, staff and graduate students. More details on programs of interest can be obtained from the Office of Sponsored Research, x5030 (voice or TDD).

Deadline	Program
05/02/83	NINCDS: Review of NINCDS Research Priorities
05/06/83	ED: Communication Development Centers for Deaf-Blind Children
05/06/83	NIHR: Rehabilitation Engineering Centers
05/09/83	ED: Rehabilitation Services and Training Discretionary Grant Programs
05/12/83	NIMH: Psychopathology in Children
05/16/83	ED: Regional Centers for Deaf Persons
05/23/83	HHS: Child Welfare Services Training Grants
06/01/83	NINCDS: Speech, Language Disorder Research Training
06/01/83	ADAMHA: National Research Service Awards
06/10/83	NIH: Factors Predictive of Reading and Writing Skills in the Congenitally Deaf
06/15/83	NEH: Elementary and Secondary Humanities Education Grants

NINCDS study

The National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke (NINCDS) has announced a request for a study of the factors predictive of the development of reading and writing skills in the congenitally deaf. Applications have a tentative closing date of June 10, 1983.

A post hoc analysis of the effects of three different approaches to preschool language training in the congenitally deaf is planned. The three approaches to be studied are American Sign Language, speech training with augmentation of residual hearing and total communication combining signing and speech training.

Access to an adequate number of at least 75 young adults (16-18 years of age), severely or profoundly deaf from birth, who have learned language through one of the three language training systems above is required.

The following factors will be examined in the three groups of deaf adolescents: level of language functioning prior to and following reading and writing training; current aural speech comprehension skills; cognitive abilities prior to and following reading and writing training; type of hearing loss, age at diagnosis, etiology, degree of loss, history of hearing augmentation; familial history for congenital hearing loss; history of language acquisition; preschool language training; and family involvement in early language training.

Applicants with access to one or more of these populations should respond to this announcement since it is expected that participation by two or three organizations will be necessary to provide comparable numbers of subjects trained by each approach.

For further information, contact the Office of Sponsored Research or write to: National Institutes of Health, National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke, Federal Building, Room 901, 7550 Wisconsin Ave., Bethesda, MD 20205.

MSSD play begins May 5

"Babes in Arms," the spring production of the MSSD Performing Arts Department, will be held May 5-7 and 11-14 in the MSSD Auditorium. The performance will be spoken, sung and signed.

The 1930s comedy focuses on a group of talented young actors who are trying to stage an original revue.

Tickets for "Babes in Arms" are $3 for students and $5 for adults. For more information, call 543-PLAY.

Exhibit by deaf artists opens soon

An exhibit of paintings by four contemporary deaf artists will open in the Learning Center on May 3. Included will be works by Ned Behnke, Tony McGregor, Robert Peterson and Daniel Wang. Additional works by Robert Peterson will be exhibited at MSSD as well during the same period.

Organized by the Office of Fine Arts in Education, "Spotlight on Deaf Artists II" intends to give a sampling of the range of interests and approaches currently being explored by professional deaf artists. All of the artists share the common bond of deafness, yet each one of them is stylistically unique.

In conjunction with the opening of the exhibit, Daniel Wang, one of the participating artists, will be on campus. Wang, a native of Mainland China who now lives in Hawaii, has been trained since childhood in the art of Chinese watercolor. Although he uses the materials and techniques of this ancient tradition, he has introduced innovations of his own.

Wang will demonstrate his painting techniques on Tuesday, May 3 from 1-3 p.m. in the Learning Center on the lower level. The campus community is invited to attend his presentation and the reception which will follow.

School supervisors visit Gallaudet

The Washington Area School Study Council of high school and elementary school supervisors met at Gallaudet College on April 18. Dean Tom Landers and Boris Bogatz of the School of Education and Human Services hosted the morning meeting and orientation to the services and academic and research resources available at Gallaudet.

Many of the visiting superintendents had never before visited the campus and were surprised with the extent of the services available. Some of the superintendents were looking for future math and science teachers. Some were wondering if the advances in medical technology and such experiments as cochlear implants would change the needs in special education for deaf children. And, finally, one of the superintendents asked if the School of Education and Human Services were available to do in-service training for his staff.

Dean Landers closed the meeting by thanking his panel of "interested and dedicated scholars" and urged the superintendents to draw on the College resources as they are planning for their own educational programs for hearing impaired students.

SEHS Dean Tom Landers talks with area school supervisors at a recent meeting.

Among Ourselves

Bruce White of the English Department has written the lead article in the current issue (Winter, 1982) of Victorian Periodicals Review, on "Douglas Jerrold's 'Q' Papers in Punch." Jerrold's Papers are articles of social commentary, often satirical, written during the 1840s when Punch was a radical London weekly.

Jack Gannon of the Alumni and Public Relations Office will be one of the panelists who will discuss books written about disabilities at the meeting of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped, to be held May 6 at the Washington Hilton. Gannon will speak on his book Deaf Heritage and why he wrote it.

Francis Higgins of the Chemistry Department was a recent speaker at the Eastern Conference of the Junior NAD.

Orin Cornett of Cued Speech has been appointed as a Sigma Xi National Lecturer for 1983-85. He will be addressing members of the scientific communities of various universities throughout the country on topics such as "Sensory Aids for the Functionally Deaf" and "Education of the Hearing Impaired."

Debbie Sonnenstrahl of Fine Arts in Education was one of the national judges for the National Poster Contest of the President's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. She also made a presentation, "Spotlight on Deaf Artists," at the Northern Virginia Registry of Interpreters for the Deaf meeting March 7.

Rod Ferrell, who has worked at Gallaudet, has been appointed to the newly created position of Deaf-Blind Specialist in the Arizona Department of Economic Security's Division of Employment and Rehabilitation Services.

Barry Crouch of the History Department presented a paper, "To Destroy Their Own: White Violence Against Texas Whites," at the 76th annual meeting of the Organization of American Historians held during the weekend of April 8-10. John Van Cleve and Eugene McVicker also attended this convention in Cincinnati. During the same weekend, Ausma Smits of the History Department was the guest speaker during the 8th NFSD Frederick division banquet in Maryland. By means of film she enabled the large turnout to experience her "China Glimpses, 1981."

The Gallaudet Dancers performed at the recent Convocation honoring President Merrill.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-TN), chairman of the Subcommittee on Investigations and Oversight of the Committee on Science and Technology, met Gallaudet Honors and other students on April 14 when they attended the subcommittee meeting. The Honors students observed the hearing on organ transplants as part of their study of scientific research.

Dancers

The class was part of Hottendorf's work to expand the offerings of the dance program at the College. "I want a program where there is not just limited access to dance," says Hottendorf. The current class schedule includes aerobic dance, folk and ethnic dance and sacred dance. Next semester's offerings will include tap, ballet, ballroom, jazzercise and aerobic.

Prior to coming to Gallaudet, Hottendorf had been an assistant professor of dance at California State University at Northridge and teaching assistant at the University of Southern California. She has trained with the Los Angeles School of Ballet, Inner City Jazz Center and Marie Marchowski, a former soloist with Martha Graham.

The Gallaudet Dancers not only perform on campus, but also around the United States and internationally. This year they have performed at National Association for Music Therapy conference, in Massachusetts at Northern Essex Community College, and for a gathering of Wives of the Ambassadors to the Organization of American States. Last year the troupe traveled and performed in Barbados and Costa Rica. This May they will perform in Guatemala at the 4th International Symposium for Special Arts, as well as at Commencement on May 23.

During the last year Hottendorf has been working to improve the rehearsal facilities for the Dancers and the dance classes. With the help and support of Vice President for Academic Affairs John Schuchman, Hottendorf recently installed a new speaker system in the dance studio in Hughes Gymnasium. In addition, the stage has been suspended slightly to create an air space allowing greater reverberation of musical sounds. The new speakers used in conjunction with the stage enable the dancers to appreciate the vibrations and tempo of the music.

Currently Hottendorf is awaiting the response on two proposals for which the Development Office is trying to find private funding. The first is an addition to the sound and sensory system of the dance studio. Two additional bass speakers would be used to amplify the sound into the suspended floor. In addition, Norman Lederman of MSSD is designing a sound and light system. Two colored lights would show the range of the bass tones in the music and one would show the spectrum of the melody. The system would be another way for the dance students to identify the quality of the sound they were hearing or feeling. This would then be translated to the movement in their dance steps.

A second proposal is pending for a graduate teaching assistantship in dance. Hottendorf feels that this would be an opportunity "for those with talent in dance to develop leadership as well as dance abilities."

The spring performance of the Gallaudet dancers and students from the dance classes will take place in Elstad Auditorium April 29, 30 at 8 p.m. and on May 1 at 2:30 p.m.

For tickets and information call Gloria Bowman at x5680 voice or TDD.

National Academy videotape to premiere

The National Academy of Gallaudet will premiere its videotape, "027.6 Access: Deaf Patrons in the Library," at the American Library Association (ALA) annual convention this June in Los Angeles.

The videotape, which covers information on how to recognize, communicate with and provide access to programs and materials for deaf library patrons, was requested by the ALA for its members. "027.6" refers to the Dewey Decimal System call number for disabled patrons of the library.

The Office of Program Research and Development of the National Academy produced, wrote and directed the videotape in cooperation with Gallaudet Television. The tape depicts deaf persons of all ages using different communication systems and all levels of English skills, interacting with hearing library staff in typical library situations.

After the premiere in Los Angeles, copies of the videotape will be available for sale to public, school and academic libraries.

Other recent products of the Office of Program Research and Development include "Signs for Genetic Counseling," a brochure for counselors, deaf clients and interpreters, and "What Should I Do Now? Problems and Adaptations of the Deafened Adult." Both brochures can be obtained through the Gallaudet Press Distribution Office.

Gallaudet College is an equal opportunity employer/education institution. Programs and services offered by Gallaudet College received substantial financial support from the Department of Education.

Generous donations made to vest fund

Going into the final two weeks of the "Invest in a Vest" campaign, the Gallaudet College community has been most generous with its contributions toward the purchase of bullet-proof vests for D.C. Police officers.

As of April 14, $1,010 has been collected. This is almost 33% of the overall goal of $3,500 for Gallaudet. Sincere appreciation is extended to those organizations and individuals who have already contributed to the Fund:

John B. Faulks

D.C. Chapter, GCAA

Travelworld, Inc.

H&H Bindery, Inc.

Harry Alexander, Inc.

Long Fence Company

Ralph W. Lee & Company, Inc.

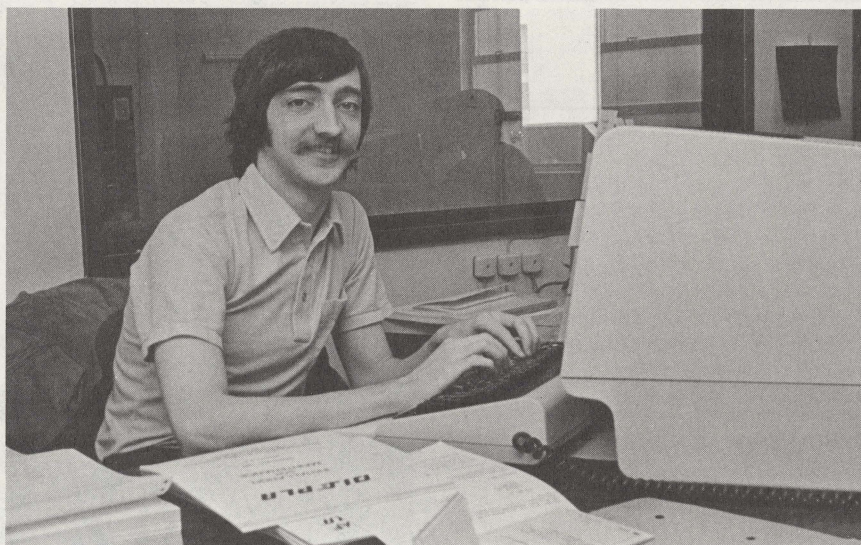

The final day for making contributions to the campaign is Friday, April 29. Any questions about the campaign can be addressed to Dan Bryant, x5462 voice or TDD.

ARA begins nutrition program

ARA Food Service has set up a Nutrition Education Program on the Gallaudet campus in response to the growing trend of student interest in proper nutrition on campuses.

The program will consist of three parts. Six or seven times a year, ARA will publish a newsletter dealing with nutrition topics of interest to students. The newsletter will be distributed in the dining hall. ARA will also display posters about nutrition and proper diet to reinforce the concept that eating properly is easy. A nutrition information table will also be set up in the dining hall to make pamphlets and other materials available for students.

Jim Becker, CCP, of Computer Services, has successfully passed the Certification of Computer Professionals (CCP) examination in systems programming and received his Institute for Certification of Computer Professionals certificate.

Advocacy Notes

The Decade of Disabled Persons

by Merv Garretson

- The United Nations General Assembly has adopted a resolution declaring 1983-1992 the Decade of Disabled Persons. A companion resolution passed unanimously by the General Assembly urges a world program of action for disabled people which encourages governments, organizations and others all over the world to increase participation of disabled persons in their nation and communities. On Jan. 20, 1983, the Gallaudet College Board of Trustees adopted a similar resolution. President Merrill serves as a director of the National Organization on Disability.

- In 1982 the National Office on Disability honored 10 Congressmen for overcoming their individual disabilities to perform outstanding public service. Their public service included assignments such as chairmen of important Congressional committees and subcommittees, serving as vice chairman, and/or ranking members of committees. The 10 disabled people so honored:

Sen. Robert Dole (R-Kansas) who has a paralyzed arm resulting from World War 2 combat service.

Sen. John East (R-North Carolina) who is a paraplegic through polio, and the first wheelchair member of Congress.

Sen. Daniel Inouye (D-Hawaii) who lost an arm in World War 2 combat service.

Sen. Charles Percy (R-Illinois) who has a hearing loss resulting from World War 2 naval service.

Rep. Charles Bennett (D-Florida) who got polio while in active military service during World War 2.

Rep. Tony Coelho (D-California) who is the first person with epilepsy to serve in Congress.

Rep. Claude Pepper (D-Florida) who has a hearing impairment.

Rep. James Scheuer (D-New York) who had polio while a teenager.

Rep. Morris Udall (D-Arizona) who has visual impairment in one eye and Parkinson's disease.

Rep. Larry Winn, Jr. (R-Kansas) who had a leg amputated during his youth.

- The Office for Civil Rights of the Department of Health and Human Services has released two videotapes on equal opportunities for, and employment of handicapped persons. Titled "Disability is not the Issue: Opportunity Is," and "Reasonable Accommodation—The Employment Story," these tapes may be acquired by sending in a blank 3/4-inch videotape for copying by the OCR. The latter tape is already captioned for the deaf and is available through the Gallaudet TV Center. Contact office is U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, Office for Civil Rights, 330 Independence Avenue, SW, Washington, D.C. 20201.
